THE JAPANESE IN FORMOSA.
Tales of brutality and lust have come frequently of late from Formosa that doubt no longer exists, of either their truth or their horror. The plain unvarnished tale which has been given to the public above the nom-de-plume 'South Formosa,' accentuated by the garbled and un consequential letters representing 'the other side' have made all cognisant with the utter barbarity and ignorance of the latest claimant to civilization, and it is only with the hopes of the deterring effects which publicity may have on the Japanese, who fear the result of strong public opinion, that we are induced to pen another indictment.

So long as their army holds the status it does in Japanese opinion, no good will accrue from the military occupation. The officers, no matter what may be advanced to the contrary, have no control over their men, and it is only by ignoring or countenancing their acts of lust and oppression that they hold even the semblance of control.

trol. The soldiers incite and excite the villagers to protest on purpose to exterminate them, and their officers are fully cognisant of this and hoping to get rapid promotion. 'on active service,' encourage their men in deeds of brutality. The coolies are also a strong incitement to the natives to take up arms against the invaders. No one appears to have any authority over these ruffians, who roam from village to village bent on plunder and rapine. The only statesman regarded as useless and lazy, and are probably glad to have found an outlet for their and their passions in Formosa. Even Mr Davidson who, unfortunately for the public, started as respondent under such conditions as rendered an impartial version impossible, has a strong indictment against them. Fro the missionaries and from those foreigners who visited the inflying districts, either lately or immediately before the rising, the public have received accounts the accuracy of which there is no reason to doubt, and native testimony is forthcoming which is given as it is in fear of reprisals, may be accepted as only too true.

No one who has studied the affairs of Formosa since the Japanese arrived doubts that the whole trouble is due entirely to the horrible atrocities committed in nearly every village away from Tainan or Taipei by the soldiers, and military and official coolies, and, to the crass stupidity and arrogance of the civil authorities. At the time the Japanese had virtually taken possession of the whole island there was not one villager or true native but who, having accepted the inevitable, looked forward to the new rule with hope. Now the men with arms (?) are not mercenaries but men of the soil fighting for common justice. For the village near the route taken, or occupied by the Japanese in either a civil or military capacity, has added its quota to the ever-increasing number of desperate men—men whose women have been ravished, whose houses or effects have been wantonly burnt or plundered, men who have seen every petty act of tyranny the soldiers, encouraged by their officers, reason that their hopes of peace and immunity were built on sand. These are men whom the Japanese papers and officials delight in calling "rebels." These are also the men with whom the sympathy of every civilized man acquainted with Fumosa lies at the present moment.

We have heard from natives that Japanese collected under the eyes, apparently by the orders, of their officers all the rice to be found within some hamlet or village, and defiled the heap in ways too possible to mention, thus purposely dising the remaining inhabitants, who, having ing still to receive justice, had clung their homes, to join those already out-by atrocities and tyranny; and it must remembered that acts such as these were not committed on armed or tough people, but on utterly defenceless village following their usual avocations and too often after the Japanese had taken vantage of their hospitality. To say that the officers were ignorant of these acts aboard. There is ample evidence of proclamations placed in many villages, calling for so many women to satisfy the lust of the troops. It is notorious that military officers have no control over their men except by pandering to their vices and giving them free license for their natural brutality. We have never heard the published report denied, and the recent importation of over 5000 prostitutes confirms the statement made by Kabaya.

When remonstrated with his referring to frequent ravishments in the north and repeated demands for women, that Japanese would make good her present demand for women by supplying the Koreans with Japanese maidens when the country is occupied. We have seen and heard of Chinamen can produce some of the things that have forced the women to commit suicide between the two peoples on whom the Japanese have demanded women for their officers and for themselves, and what the Chinese have resisted some consolation.

THE CHINA REVIEW.

PUBLISHED BY MONTHLY.

THIS Review, which was intended to meet the wants of many students of Chinese history and literature, has reached its twenty-second volume. The Review discusses those topics which are uppermost in the minds of students of the Far East, and about which every intelligent person connected with China or Japan is desirous of acquiring trustworthy information. It includes many interesting Notes and original papers on the Arts, Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Natural History, Antiquities, and Social Manners and Customs, etc., etc. of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, and the Far East generally. Recently a new department has been taken, and the Review now gives papers on Trade, Commerce, and Descriptive Notes of Travel by well-known writers. It was thought that by extending the scope of the Review in this direction, the Magazine would be made more generally useful.

THE CHINA REVIEW.

PUBLISHED BY MONTHLY.

The Review department receives special attention, and endeavours are made to present a careful and concise record of literature on China etc., and to give critiques embodying sketches of the most recent works on such topics. Authors and Publishers are requested to forward works to "Editor, China Review, care of China Mail Office."
